- ❖ ANTH 1101 General Anthropology (3)
- ❖ GEOG 1101 World Regional Geography (3)
- ❖ POLS 1101 Introduction to Comparative Politics (3)
- ❖ POLS 1150 Introduction to International Politics (3)

Foreign Language

6-8 semester hours at 2201-2202 level in a language related to the area concentration selected.

Area Concentration

African, Asian, and European Studies.

12 hours of related coursework appropriate to the selected concentration. All courses must be chosen from outside the student's major and from at least two other departments.

Self Designated Concentration

Students choosing to focus their study around a particular issue, theme or region not covered by other area concentrations may do so with the advice and consent of an advisor and subject to the regular availability of sufficient courses and an appropriate foreign language.

International Experience

Students are encouraged (not required) to complete an international experience related to the area studies concentration they have selected. This may be fulfilled through participation in a formal study abroad program, or through foreign-based work, service, or internship activities. This experience must be specified and approved by an advisor. Academic credits earned may be applied to the requirements of the major. A US-based experience of an international nature or prior international experience may be considered.
